

The Value of a Compounding Pharmacy

Sixty years ago, when the Doctor prescribed a medicine, the pharmacist would take the raw drug off the shelf and compound it into a capsule, liquid, suppository or another form for the patient to take. This art of compounding still plays a vital role in preparing unique medicines that would be otherwise unavailable from the usual sources. Our pharmacy staff of highly trained compounding specialists are continually formulating important health improving medicines. Physicians use these to treat many ailments such as morning sickness, chemo nausea, tooth enamelization, canker sores, hypothyroidism, hormone replacement in men and women, obesity, chronic pain treatment and others.. These remedies often work better and are less costly than the available alternatives from the drug companies. We also offer many OTC remedies for insomnia, coughs, wrinkles, dry skin, migraines, joint pain and other things. We also maintain a close link to the nationwide group of compounding pharmacists who constantly publish what they're doing for previously unsolved health problems.
